

the way in which two or more people or things are connected, or the state of being connected.

How can we make relationship with others and remember? Who is my closest person in the world? Through research everyone have something to remember their precious person. The thing could be object, place or person. For me it was necklace. This project begins from the necklace which was belong to my mom and she gave it to me. She bought it about 30 years ago and gave it to me 10 years ago. From the day since I wear it, it was like a talisman for me and made me feel safe like my mom was with me. To remember my feeling I visualize it with photos and videos.
